RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

2024 – present Research Assistant
Clinical Neuroscience of Anxiety and Depression Lab, Department of Psychology, Yonsei University, Seoul, Korea
Advisor: Juyoen Hur, Ph.D.

- Led resting-state data preprocessing, conducted analysis (connectome based predictive modeling [CPM]; independent component analysis [ICA]), and manuscript drafting.
- Programmed a heartbeat tapping task for interoceptive modulation, integrated with BIOPAC MP150 hardware, and managed resting-state HRV datasets (electrocardiogram [ECG]; photoplethysmography [PPG]).

- Synchronized an eye-tracker with fMRI tasks to collect real-time pupil size data during task performance, and established data exclusion criteria.
- Administered executive function tasks assessing inhibition, shifting, and updating, and conducted the Structured Clinical Interview for DSM-IV (SCID-IV) as part of data collection.

2024 – present Research Assistant
International Collaborative Study on Misophonia (University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, Urbana, USA; University of São Paulo, São Paulo, Brazil; Yonsei University, Seoul, Korea)
Advisor: Howard Berenbaum, Ph.D.

- Took a leading role in fMRI sessions; reviewed and revised the interoceptive attention and trigger-sound fMRI task designs to reduce multicollinearity and fit them to the local experimental environment, drafted and managed IRB protocols, and tracked budget.
- Programmed the trigger-sound behavioral task and distributed it to collaborating research teams in Brazil and the US, conducted research interviews (Structured Clinical Interview; Duke Misophonia Interview), and am currently preparing a manuscript.

2025 – 2026 Research Assistant
Human Development Lab, Department of Psychology, Yonsei University, Seoul, Korea
Advisor: Hyunjoo Song, Ph.D.

- Implemented the resting-state fMRI data preprocessing pipeline.
- Conducted ROI-to-ROI functional connectivity analyses.

Winter 2022 Undergraduate Research Assistant
Clinical Neuroscience Lab, Department of Psychology, Seoul National University, Seoul, Korea
Advisor: Jeanyung Chey, Ph.D.

- Trained in cognitive assessments for older adults.
- Literature review related to risk and protective factors for cognitive decline in older adults.
